| Purpose and Levels of Meaning        | The text has a single purpose: to explain the life cycle of seeds. The complexity is increased by including the role of the gardener and details about the water, the sun, and the complete cycle from seed to vegetable. (p. 2) <sup>a</sup> |
| Structure                            | This informational text has a sequential text structure describing the steps by which a seed becomes a vegetable. This word then helps readers recognize and follow the steps. (p. 3, 5) <sup>b</sup>                                         |
| Language Conventionality and Clarity | The text includes simple and complex academic vocabulary related to the life cycle of seeds.                                                                                                                                                  |
