

Leveled Books for First-Time Readers

10 classic themes across six key learning domains build literacy skills and SEL intelligence.

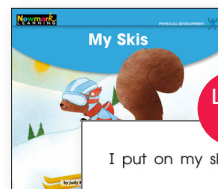

- Every domain contains a balance of nonfiction and fiction titles.
- Exceptional instructional materials provide specific lesson support for every title.
- Family involvement components extend learning beyond the classroom.

Online tools make whole-group instruction come alive!

Students make continued progress—and access increasingly complex text.

Sample Theme: Weather

Before-, during-, and after-reading resources strengthen concepts of print, phonemic development, and text-dependent comprehension.

Cross-Curricular Activities

Physical Development: Gross Motor Skills
What's In the Clouds? Fill containers with cotton balls and hole cardboard or plastic raindrops, snowflakes, and suns. Have children dig through the cotton balls to find the objects.

Oral Language: Vocabulary
Weather Activities: With the class, make a list of activities that children can do in rain, snow, and sunshine.

Science: Earth and Space
Weather Clouds: Help children understand that rain comes from clouds by putting a small amount of shaving cream on top of water in a clear plastic cup. Allow children to drop a little food coloring onto the shaving cream and watch it rain!

Math: Measurement
How Much Rain? Collect rainwater on a rainy day, or fill cups with water to represent rainfall. Have children use blocks and scales to measure the depth and weight of the rainwater.

Creative Expression: Music
Weather Songs: Sing songs about weather, such as "Rain, Rain, Go Away," "The Itzy Bitzy Spider," and "Mister Sun."

Introduce the Text

Show children the cover of the book and talk about the title and picture. Ask questions about clouds, such as:
 What colors can clouds be? What shapes can they make?
 Point out that there are many different kinds of clouds. Preview the book with children, pointing to each picture and asking them to tell about the weather.

Teacher's Guides prompt discussion and improve comprehension.

Family Corner

We read the book Cloudy Days in school this week. The book is about different kinds of weather. Practice reading the book at home and reinforce learning with these activities.

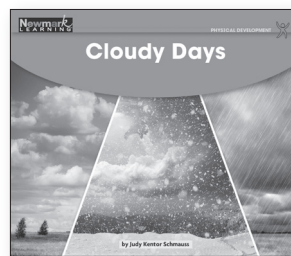

Activities for "Cloudy Days" PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT

Make it rain
 Let your child put half a cup of dirt in a zip-top bag. Met it with water, zip up the bag, and tape it to a sunny window. The bag will form water vapor and then "rain."

Weather words
 Talk about what it looks like outside in different kinds of weather. What color is the sky on a cloudless day?
